KRISTIN TOUSSAINT, REPORTER

Thanksgiving kicks off the holiday season, meaning many people are looking for ways to do good and give back — even rideshare companies. One local rideshare, Fasten, is offering free rides to the Greater Boston Food Bank for those going to donate or volunteer. Read about why that's important, and another rideshare perk, inside and at metroboston.us.

TRUMP: I SHOULD HAVE LEFT UCLA PLAYERS IN JAIL

1 President Donald Trump said on Twitter on Sunday he should have left in jail the three UCLA basketball players who had been detained in China on suspicion of shoplifting after the father of one of the players questioned Trump's role in their release. "Now that the three basketball players are out of China and saved from years in jail, LaVar Ball, the father of LiAngelo, is unaccepting of what I did for his son and that shoplifting is no big deal. I should have left them in jail!," the president wrote. The three apologized last week and thanked Trump for helping secure their release by raising the issue with Chinese President Xi Jinping during his visit, in their first public comments since being detained.

TRUMP OPEN TO DROPPING HEALTHCARE PROVISION

2 President Donald Trump would not insist on including repeal of an Obama-era health insurance mandate in a bill intended to enact the biggest overhaul of the tax code since the 1980s, a senior White House aide said on Sunday. The version of tax legislation put forward by Senate Republican leaders would remove a requirement in former President Barack Obama's signature healthcare law that taxes Americans who decline to buy health insurance. "If we can repeal part of Obamacare as part of a tax bill ... that can pass, that's great," White House budget director Mick Mulvaney said on CNN's "State of the Union" on Sunday. "If it becomes an impediment to getting the best tax bill we can, then we are OK with taking it out," Mulvaney said.

5 THINGS YOU NEED TO KNOW

BRITAIN TO SUBMIT 'BREXIT BILL' PROPOSAL

4 Britain will submit proposals on how to settle its divorce bill with the European Union before an EU summit next month and is expected to negotiate hard, finance minister Philip Hammond said. The EU told Prime Minister Theresa May on Friday that there was more work to be done to unlock the Brexit talks, repeating its early December deadline for her to flesh out Britain's opening offer on the financial settlement. "We will make our proposals to the European Union in time for the Council," Hammond told the BBC, referring to the Dec. 14-15 meeting of EU heads of government. He was speaking three days before he sets out Britain's budget plan, where he will have to find room within fiscal constraints to help May convince voters that the government is tackling domestic problems at the same time as negotiating its exit from the EU.

STORM COMPLICATES SEARCH FOR MISSING SUB

5 A storm on Sunday complicated the search for an Argentine navy submarine missing in the South Atlantic with 44 crew members, as authorities tried to verify that recent satellite calls seen as a sign the sailors were alive came from the vessel. U.S. airplanes carrying subsurface search specialists arrived in Argentina to help hunt for the ARA San Juan, which was 268 miles off Argentina's coast when its location was last known early on Wednesday, said navy Admiral Gabriel Gonzalez. More than a dozen boats and aircraft from Argentina, the United States, Britain, Chile and Brazil had joined the effort. Authorities have mainly been scanning the sea from above as waves of up to 26 feet and winds of up to 40 knots made the search difficult for boats, Gonzalez told reporters.

Rideshares give back, and help you pay it forward, this Thanksgiving

Fasten and Lyft are both providing promotions this week that are in the holiday spirit.

KRISTIN TOUSSAINT
@kristindakota
kristin.toussaint@metro.us

Thanksgiving is a time to sit around a table full of food with your family, stuffing yourself with so much stuffing that you might need bigger pants — but it's also about giving back and helping out those who may not be as fortunate.

This year, rideshare services are getting in on the generosity, giving discounts that will help customers to do good deeds themselves and also stay safe for the holidays.

Boston-based company Fasten is encouraging residents to help out the Greater Boston Food Bank, which is aiming this holiday season to provide 12 million healthy meals to families who struggle to put food on their tables.

That's a lofty goal — more than they were able to provide last year, GBFB President and CEO Catherine D'Amato said — and so they need the public's help to make it happen.

Though there's a need for donations and awareness on food scarcity all year around, D'Amato said, the holiday season always creates a bit more attention for the issue. There actually is a bit of an increased need, as well; some pantries see more visitors because of the changes in weather, which can cause higher utility bills, or personal needs that arise this time of year.

"It's a bit of a conundrum, because we have a robust economy, a record stock market and the lowest unemployment for a considerable number of years, but there is still this underemployed factor that is very true in the Greater Boston area," D'Amato said.

The Greater Boston Food Bank had its Chain of Giving event earlier in November, with officials and residents volunteering, but you can still volunteer or donate with help from Fasten. PROVIDED BY GBFB

"One in 10 people don't know where their next meal is coming from," she continued."

Fasten is helping this fight against hunger by offering round-trip rides, free up to $20 each way, to the food bank for anyone volunteering, dropping off food from a corporate drive or making their own donation.

"It's a win-win for the individuals that we serve … 140,000 people each and every month eat something from the Greater Boston Food Bank," D'Amato said.

This is the first time GBFB has done a promotion like this, D'Amato said. It was actually Fasten's idea, and the food bank is excited about the extra incentive this may give people to help out.

"Thanksgiving is a time when helping the hungry is top of mind for many of us in Boston, including the team here at Fasten. That's why we reached out to the Greater Boston Food Bank, which is the largest hunger-relief organization in New England, to see how our ride-hailing services could help make an impact," said Kirill Evdakov, Fasten co-founder and CEO.

Fasten is offering the free rides from Monday through this Wednesday. Enter 70 South Bay Avenue, Boston, as the destination or pickup address in the app, and the discount will automatically be applied.

Free speech rally draws protesters, leads to arrests

Counterprotesters carry a banner at the free speech rally on Saturday. DEREK KOUYOUMJIAN

On Saturday, counterprotesters outnumbered the free speech advocates who held a planned event entitled Rally for the Republic on Boston Common, CBS News reported. During the rally, police made three arrests, two for disorderly conduct and one arrest for assault and battery against an officer.

The free speech advocates numbered a few dozen while at least 100 counterprotesters were at the event, ABC News added. The rally speakers criticized mainstream media outlets as being hateful, and they accused Antifa and Black Lives Matter groups of being terrorist organizations.

"We, as a nation, are broken," rally speaker Tammy Lee said to ABC. "We must begin to listen to each other, and not just look with our eyes and minds closed."

So these commonly agreed upon celebrity doppelgangers should come as no surprise at all.

Here's a list of celebrities that look so much alike, it's like "Wow, you two kind of look alike if I squint just so!" METRO

The 'Search Party' guide to getting away with literal murder

Dory and Drew aren't taking the let's-cover-up-an-accidental-murder thing too well this season. Can you blame them? TBS

How to cover it up and cope. Or at least, try to.

RACHAEL VAUGHAN CLEMMONS
rachael.clemmons@metro.us

"Search Party" is back! And in its second season, the TBS series gets darker — and more delightful — than before.

Thankfully, the show still manages its fresh (yet painfully familiar) take on self-obsessed millennials. But this time, it's with a good dose of murder.

To be clear, we are not condoning murder. Reader, do not do murder! Still, with the first episode of the second season having premiered on Sunday, Nov. 19, we thought it would be a great idea to see just how these oblivious millennials — Dory, Drew, Elliott and Portia — managed to get away with, well, murder. So far, at least. There's no telling how much longer they'll be able to keep it together.

Here's a step-by-step guide to getting away with murder, with tips and tricks from the "Search Party" premiere.

First things first: Freak the f—k out.
This one should come naturally. Dory opens the episode with a panic attack that promises she'll likely suffer PTSD from this incident, forever and always. Drew — king of freakouts — is right there with her. But Elliott has a, dare we say, unnatural calmness about him. What's that about?

Now, let's pretend like everything is fine.
That's right: It's probably because Elliot's so busy pretending everything is fine, and acting like nothing has happened. Even if there is a body folded up in the closet, he's going to take up Chantal on her offer for a dinner out in Montreal, you know?

You deserve a break, so stand by while your friends have a dance party.
It kind of makes sense that Chantal — the very reason the gang is in this mess — is the worst. So of course, as clueless as she is, she's all about snorting cocaine and having a dance party for her last night of escapism. It's even less surprising that Dory, Drew and Elliott stand by, incapable of participating. I mean, they literally just killed a guy!

You'll need supplies to bury the body.
Maybe don't opt for the zebra-print suitcase, though. That's a bad choice on Dory and Drew's part.

Back to work: Manipulate everyone around you.
Elliott's preternatural calm is kind of disturbing, no? That, plus his effortless ability to manipulate Portia, hot French-Canadian Matthieu and Chantal — the latter with the promises of the ol' Sleeping Beauty (a sedative high kicked off by the cocaine) — is extremely worrisome. Surely, though, he won't be able to keep it up for long. If he does, he might end up being the most sociopathic of the four.

Apologize, a lot.
Dory apologizes to the gang — including Portia, who is feeling left out of the let's-cover-up-an-accidental-murder plot — for dragging them into finding Chantal and covering up Keith's murder. Then she remembers Keith had a daughter and realizes that, hey, maybe she's the worst, not Chantal. Even though, again, Chantal is pretty horrible.

Make an even worse decision, if you can help it.
After an accidental murder, you're bound to make one, two or several poor decisions. But Dory stealing Keith's phone is probably the worst decision of all. We'll see!

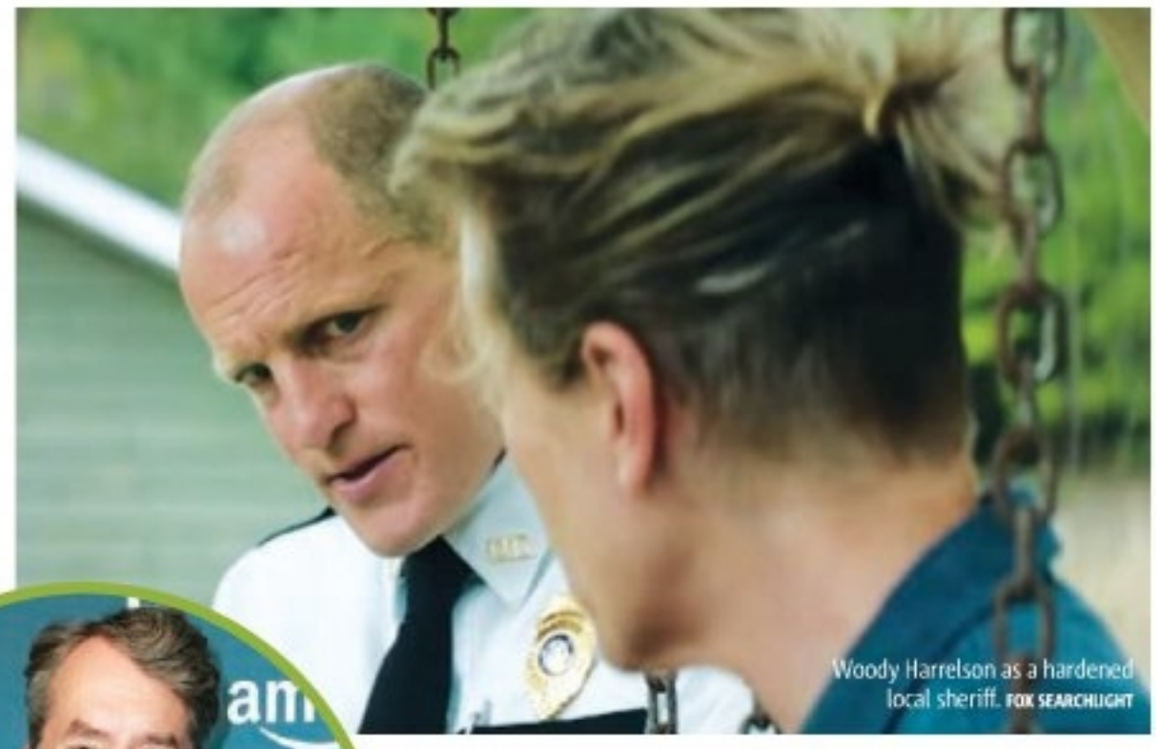
The tunes in 'Three Billboards' that change everything

Metro deep dives into the score behind the latest Frances McDormand and Woody Harrelson film.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
@MetroBOS
gregory.wakeman@metro.us



Woody Harrelson as a hardened local sheriff. FOX SEARCHLIGHT

Cinematic sound is just as powerful as the script in many cases. And the supreme court on soundtracks has one clear-cut judge and jury: Carter Burwell is the master of music for more than a dozen Coen Brothers films. He's also worked with Bill Condon, David Mamet, Todd Haynes, Stephen Frears, Spike Jonze, David O. Russell, Mike Nichols, Doug Liman, Sidney Lumet, Charlie Kaufman and more. So what makes one project different from another?

We threw on a headset and hit the studio, so to speak, with Burwell in order to find out.

How do you differentiate between soundtracks?

They're each very individual. You always try to have the music be about the film. When the films are so different that makes it easier; it's harder when they have things in common. Putting aside the stories they're individual in every possible way, in story and in sensibilities, and in how they appeal to audiences. Something I try to achieve is not just mirroring the things that you see on the screen and just amplifying them emotionally — that's one thing that music can do, but I try not to do that. I try to find another aspect of what you're seeing rather than the obvious thing. I'll be honest, though, I've worked on films where the director has been, "We need help here. You have got pull the emotion out." But in this particular film ("Three Billboards"), we were always trying to do the opposite because the story is so infused with emotion.

The man behind the music. GETTY IMAGES

"Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri" uses a very beautiful song [Amy Annelle's cover of "Buckskin Stallion Blues"] right at the end. Did you discuss incorporating that song, or mirroring that song with your own music, with writer and director Martin McDonagh?

No, we didn't discuss it. I think when I started working on it the song wasn't in there yet. But we both love that Townes Van Zandt song. I wanted the score to feel like it was from that place in a sense. Like it was from the middle part of the United States, and the song has to feel like it is from there, too. But that wasn't a planned coincidence.

"Three Billboards" is playing in select cinemas now.

Never underestimate the strength of a working mother. ISTOCK

A working mother's guide to overthrowing the patriarchy

Who says you can only be a "good mother" or a "good worker"?

PAT KING
@MetroBOS
patrick.king@metro.us

The grossly outdated stereotype that says a woman can either have a family or a career is DOA.

Anyone who has ever met a new mom knows how strong, responsible and able to multitask she needs to be in order to keep a tiny human alive — why wouldn't she be able to keep a keen attention to detail in an office?

We spoke with entrepreneur and journalist Sarah Lacy about her book "A Uterus Is a Feature, Not a Bug: The Working Woman's Guide to Overthrowing the Patriarchy" to learn more about erasing this stigma and empowering women in the workforce and at home.

As a Silicon Valley journalist, Lacy was subject to more than her fair share of abuse at work (and let's be clear here — no one deserves any share of abuse in order to make a living) from men in the tech industry. But as she sees it, this toxic patriarchy has been in place for as long as the big businesses she covers have been in existence; it was only exacerbated when she became a mother.

"When I had children, I was stunned because I had spent my entire adult life being told that having children would make me distracted and weak and a worse employee, and I would have to make all of these compromises," says Lacy. "It was this biological distinction that would mean my years of high net worth were behind me."

So she decided to prove the patriarchy wrong.

"I couldn't believe the disconnect," Lacy continues. "What explains the intensity and pervasiveness of this lie? What explains why we believe it, and what explains the reality I found on the other side? As a reporter, I wanted to explore all of those things; as a woman, I want women to know that this isn't some death sentence."

What's the state of feminism in 2017? Good question — it means something different to every woman, regardless of her desire to have a family. That said, "I'm 41, and most women in my generation haven't wanted to be considered only 'feminists,' or only 'women,'" Lacy shares. "I would go to interview a prominent woman in Silicon Valley and if I were even to ask her a question about being a mother, about being a woman, or if she had encountered bias ever, I would be thrown out of her office. Women of my generation who were pioneers of this industry didn't want to be considered as women or supporting women, or to have anything to do with that narrative. Now, these same women are our most staunch and fearless advocates."

She's proud of her peers for finally taking a stand, blown away by how galvanized millennial feminists are and can't help but feel optimistic for the future. "Everything everyone has been saying for years about why millennials are so awful — they don't have a culture of paying their dues — that's great!" Lacy beams. "Because the culture of paying our dues was exactly why women of my generation weren't speaking out about stuff like this."

"A Uterus Is a Feature, Not a Bug" is on sale now.

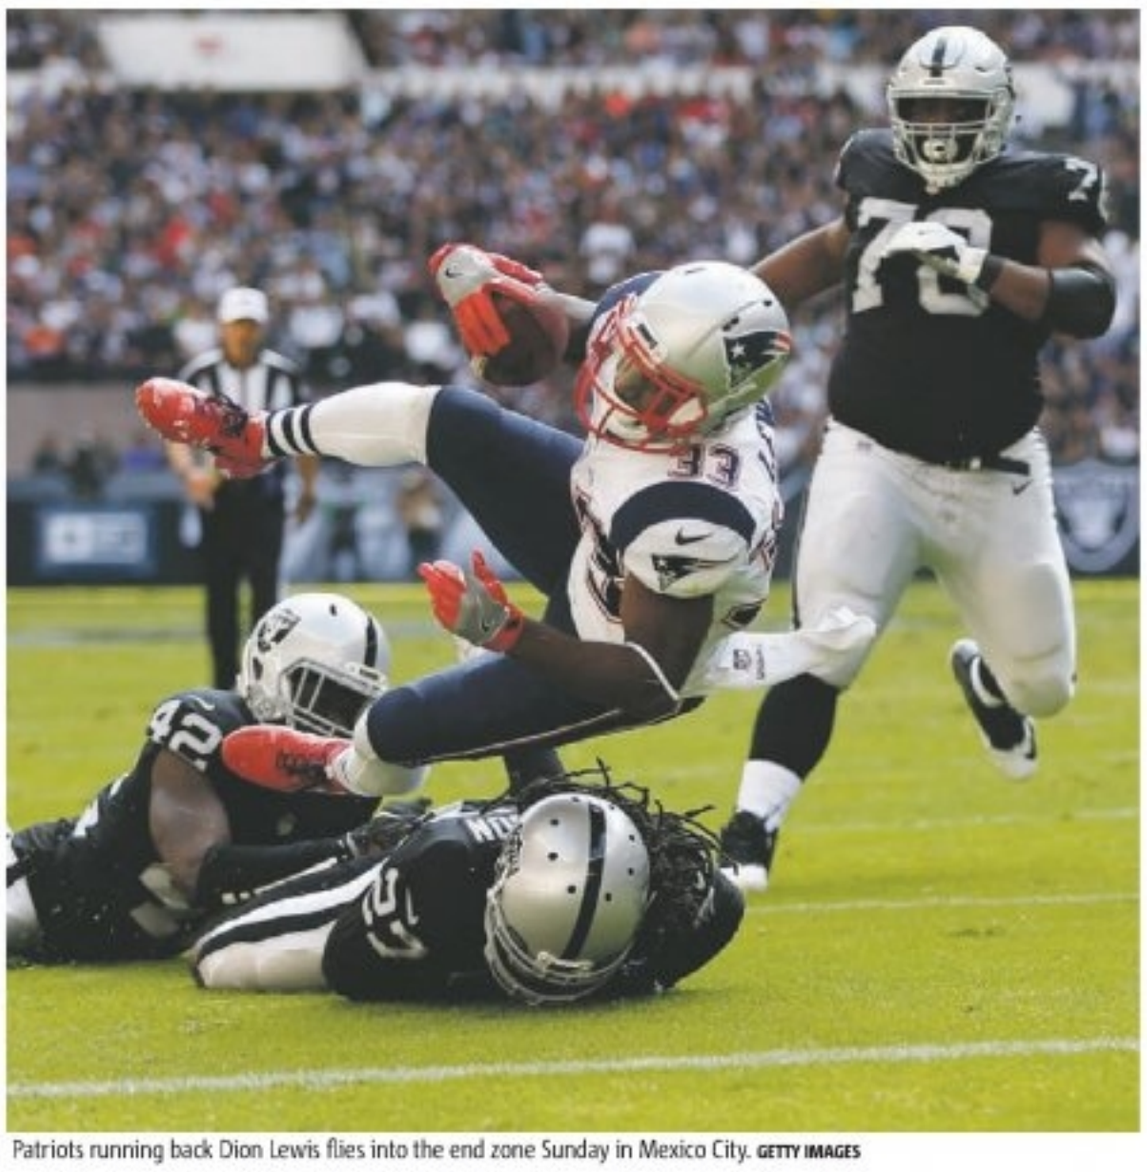
Patriots torch Raiders, move to 8-2



Patriots running back Dion Lewis flies into the end zone Sunday in Mexico City. GETTY IMAGES

The Patriots cruised to a 33-8 win over the Raiders in Mexico City Sunday afternoon.

MATT BURKE
@burke_metro
matthew.burke@metro.us

Tom Brady's 64-yard touchdown pass to Brandin Cooks in the first minute of the third quarter put a stamp on a 33-8 Patriots victory over the Raiders in a game that was never in doubt.

The Pats' win Sunday afternoon at Azteca Stadium in Mexico City pushed their 2017 record to 8-2 and they are now tied with the Pittsburgh Steelers for the top seed in the AFC.

The Patriots defense came up with an enormous turnover to close out the first half as Marquis Flowers punched the ball free from Seth Roberts. Patrick Chung recovered the fumble and the Pats took over from their own 7-yard line.

With just 26 seconds left in the half and backed up close to their own end zone, most teams would have elected to kneel on the ball to close out the half. But the Pats — brimming with confidence against the Raiders defense all day — quickly marched to the Oakland 45-yard line and Stephen Gostkowski boomed home a 62-yard field goal. The three points bumped the New England lead to 17-0 at the half.

The Pats defense shut out the Raiders through the first three quarters of the game.

Offensively, Brady was near perfect, hitting on 30-of-37 passes for 339 yards, three touchdowns and zero interceptions. He finished the game with a sparkling 131.9 passer rating.

Brady was scary accurate in the first half, completing 20-of-24 passes for 201 yards and two touchdowns. Through two quarters, Brady had a passer rating of 129.3 while his counterpart, Derek Carr, had a rating of only 39.3.

Gostkowski was highly impressive throughout the contest as well, kicking four field goals. In addition to the 62-yarder, Gostkowski also hit a 51-yard kick.

New Pill Targets Weak Bladder Muscles, Preventing Accidents and Leaks

Developed for 24-hour bladder control; participants in clinical trial experience dramatic reduction in trips to the bathroom, embarrassing leaking, and nighttime urgency without the usual negative side effects of drugs.

Robert Ward,
Associated Health Press

AHP – Adult diaper sales are expected to plummet as results from a clinical trial on a new, patented bladder control pill have finally been released.

Sold under the brand name UriVarx™, the new pill contains key ingredients that keeps the bladder from releasing voluntarily, which reduces accidents and frequent bathroom trips.

Perhaps more impressive, it also targets the tiny muscles around the bladder, which helps the bladder to create a tighter seal.

This would explain why the average UriVarx™ user in clinical trials experiences a 66% reduction in urinary incontinence symptoms, such as day and night leaking and sudden urges to urinate.

NEW DISCOVERY IN BLADDER CONTROL

Until now, doctors believed it was impossible to strengthen the muscles that control the bladder. They are amazed to see that it can now be done with the non-prescription UriVarx™ pill.

"As you get older, and the involuntary muscles around your bladder weaken, you lose urinary control. With your bladder wall unable to properly seal, you constantly leak and feel pressure to urinate" explains Dr. Bassam Damaj of Innovus Pharmaceuticals.

"UriVarx™ targets the bladder muscles and help restores vital kidney health, reducing urgency and frequency. It also helps you "hold it" for hours so you never have to worry about embarrassing accidents ever again!"

FREEDOM FROM SUDDEN URGES AND LEAKS

Since hitting the market, sales for the patented UriVarx™ pill have soared and there are some very good reasons why.

To begin with, the double blind large clinical studies published in the clinicaltrials.gov have been impressive. Participants taking UriVarx™ saw a stunning reduction in urinary frequency, which resulted in fewer bathroom trips both day and night.

They also experienced a dramatic decrease in incontinence episodes, such as leaking and bed wetting.

The active ingredients in UriVarx™ comes from a patented formula. It is both safe and healthy. There are also no known serious side effects in its history of use.

Scientists believe that the ingredients target the muscles of the bladder to grow stronger. These muscles are responsible for keeping the bladder tightly sealed. They also help the bladder to completely empty, allowing bacteria to be flushed from the urinary tract.

Research has shown that as you get older, certain hormonal changes in the body cause these muscles to shrink and become lose. This is what causes the bladder to be over active and the resulting urine accidents and why UriVarx™ seems to be so effective in the published clinical trials.

EXCITING RESULTS FROM URIVARX USERS

Many UriVarx™ users say their bladders have never been stronger. For the first time in years, they are confident and in complete control. Adult pads and diapers are no longer a big worry.

"After my third child, I couldn't control my bladder. I was running to the bathroom all the time! And once I hit my 60s it became so unpredictable I needed to wear adult pads every day" explained Marie L. of Danbury, CT.

"I was embarrassed so before going to my doctor I decided to try UriVarx and I'm so glad I did! The urgency is gone and I no longer feel like my bladder is about to explode. I can also "hold it" when I need to so I'm no longer living in constant fear of finding a bathroom."

IMPRESSIVE CLINICAL RESULTS

The exciting clinical results published on the government clinical website clinicaltrials.gov show that UriVarx™ can strengthen your bladder fast, significantly reducing the urine urgency and leaks.

In a new double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical study, 142 men and women with bladder control issues were separated into two groups. The first group was given a placebo while the other received UriVarx™.

The results were incredible. The participants who received UriVarx™ saw major improvements in leaking, pressure, and the urgency to go – all without the usual side effects seen in prescription drugs! They also reported fewer trips to the bathroom both day and night.

Urivarx: This new patented clinically proven pill solution is now available nationwide

Overall, the UriVarx™ group experienced:

- 56% Reduction in Urge Incontinence
- 66% Reduction in Stress Incontinence
- 61% Reduction in Urgency
- 33% Reduction in Frequency
- 46% Reduction in Nighttime Bathroom Trips

Additionally, at the end of clinical trial and after seeing the results, 84% of the participants taking UriVarx™ said it significantly improved their quality of life.

"The clinical findings are incredible, but people still wonder if it will really work" explains Dr. Bassam Damaj. "It's normal to be skeptical, but we've seen thousands of UriVarx™ users get results exactly like the participants in the study. It's an amazing product."

HOW IT WORKS

UriVarx™ is a pill that's taken just once daily. It does not require a prescription.

The active ingredients are patented natural extracts.

Research shows that as we get older, the muscles which surround the bladder weaken. This is caused by hormonal changes in the body that causes the muscles to atrophy and weaken.

When they become too small and weak, they cannot seal your bladder shut, which causes leaking, accidents, among other incontinence symptoms.

It also prevents your bladder from fully emptying, which can result in persistent bacterial infections and UTIs.

UriVarx™'s active ingredient targets the muscles around the bladder, making them stronger. Supporting ingredients in UriVarx™ support kidney function and overall urinary health.

BLADDER PROBLEMS GONE

With daily use, UriVarx™ can restore strong bladder control and help users overcome leakage without the negative side effects or interactions associated with drugs.

Leakage sufferers can now put an end to the uncontrollable urges, the embarrassing accidents, and enjoy an entirely new level of comfort and confidence.

Celtics getting a total team effort

The C's will be shooting for their 16th straight win tonight in Dallas against the Mavericks.

MATT BURKE
@burke_metro
matthew.burke@metro.us

The Celtics did all the little things in their gritty win over the defending champion Warriors last week. GETTY IMAGES

The Celtics haven't lost since Oct. 18.

Today is Nov. 20.

In this past month, the Celtics have become a team, T-E-A-M, in every sense of the word. Championship teams typically have a different player step forward with a big game every night. Last Thursday's monumental win over the defending NBA champion Warriors was the "Jaylen game." The win over the Lakers on Nov. 8 was the "Aron Baynes game." The road win over the Thunder on Nov. 4 was the "Kyrie game," and the road win over the Bucks on Oct. 26 was the "Horford game."

This player of the game by committee deal the Celtics have going right now during this 15-game win streak is a great sign that the Celtics will be legitimate NBA Finals contenders come springtime. For now, it's simply a sign that the Celtics will be able to extend this streak into the 20s.

"Most of us have never been on a winning streak like this," Irving said. "I don't know if we even know how to pay attention to all the hoopla that goes on in terms of the excitement of it. I just think that every single game we take it as a challenge."

The Celtics do not exactly face a murderers' row of opponents through the end of this month as they'll play at Dallas (tonight, 8:30, NBC Sports Boston), at Miami, at home versus Orlando, at Indiana, at home versus Detroit and at home versus the 76ers. Those teams have a combined record of 44-50.

The game against the Pistons next Monday could pose a challenge as Detroit is the most surprising team in the NBA at 10-5, and in early December the Celtics will again host Milwaukee. The Bucks (8-7) are the last team to beat the Celtics. If the C's can hold on to their streak until then they'll go into the Milwaukee game with a 22-game win streak.

The Celtics franchise record for a win streak is 19, which they accomplished in 2008-09. A streak of 22 would tie the 2007-08 Houston Rockets for the fourth longest streak in league history. The all-time longest streak is 33, held by the 1971-72 LA Lakers.

Chipping in

Everyone is chipping in during the Celtics win streak, and the stats back that up. Kyrie Irving leads the team in scoring at 20.9 points per game, but the C's have four other players averaging double-digits. Jaylen Brown is averaging 15.8 points per game, Al Horford is averaging 14.9 points, Jayson Tatum is averaging 13.9 points and Marcus Morris is averaging 13.5 points. In addition, Horford, Brown, Tatum, Morris and Aron Baynes are all averaging more than five rebounds per game.

MATT BURKE

Smith Jr. vs. Tatum

The Celtics have something of a layup tonight against the Mavericks as Dallas owns the worst record in the NBA at 3-14. One of the few things the Mavs have going for them is rookie Dennis Smith Jr., however. The ninth overall pick of this past summer's draft, Smith Jr. is averaging 14.5 points and 4.5 assists per game. Smith Jr. and Philly's Ben Simmons are Jayson Tatum's primary challengers for the Rookie of the Year award. Tatum is averaging 13.9 points and 5.6 rebounds per game this season.

Aries Get involved, travel, study and sign up for events. You'll be at the top of your game, and you should be intent on bringing about positive change. Raise your standards.

Taurus Don't feel you must follow the crowd. Watch to see what happens before you give in to something you are only partially interested in doing.

Gemini on't lead anyone on or make promises you won't want to keep. Speak from the heart instead of saying what you think others want to hear.

Cancer Accept change and you'll be able to move forward. Holding on to the past or doing your job using outdated methods will not help the people dependent on you.

Leo If something isn't working for you, make a change. Don't put up with situations that are injurious to your emotional, physical or financial health.

Virgo Compassion and understanding will be required when dealing with domestic situations. Cooperation will bring you closer to a solution involving children or elders.

Libra If you learn as much as you can, it will result in positive change, a new direction or a higher standard of living. Listen to experts, and share information.

Scorpio Think about what you have to offer, and find ways to use your skills and talents in ways that you've never done before. Your actions will not be forgotten.

Sagittarius It's up to you to bring about positive change. Good things will happen if you are forthright about your motives and ready to negotiate or offer incentives.

Capricorn Use intelligence to maneuver your way through situations. If you are too inconsistent, you will be met with a response that is equally unpredictable.

Aquarius Take better care of your health by monitoring your eating and drinking habits closely. Offer to help someone you'd like to get to know better.

Pisces Take one step at a time. Protect your assets and take care of your liabilities. Refuse to let anyone outsmart or outmaneuver you. Listen carefully. EUGENIA LAST
